LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

Ref: SIRI/HR/LOR/2025-26/001

11 September 2026

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to recommend Mudunuru Neeraj, who interned with SIRI Law LLP from 10 June 2026 to 11 September 2026. He held intern identification SIRI/HR/OL/2025-26/001 and was attached to the Firm as a Technical Consultant in our Technology and Cybersecurity practice. He joined the Firm on 10 June 2026.

SIRI Law LLP advises clients at the point where legal work and technical work have to be done together: data protection under the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, legal assessment of technology files, technical documentation, technical audit, and forensic support that counsel can actually use. The internship was designed around that practice. The work given to Mr. Neeraj followed it in order.

He started with Digital Personal Data Protection and legal assessment. He read the statute against the papers on the files assigned to him. He helped identify what was being processed, who was processing it, and which legal questions followed. He prepared the working notes the legal team used, and he left open what was still open.

He was then put on two client engagements. On both, he prepared technical documentation and carried out technical auditing of the systems, records and materials produced to the Firm. He put the papers in order. He wrote what the legal team needed from those papers. He checked the record for gaps and for inconsistency, and he reported the gaps instead of repairing them by guesswork.

On the second of those two clients he was given additional work. He assisted with forensic analysis. He read the technical and forensic material on that file, helped keep the forensic record in a form the legal team could use, and stayed with the points that had to be aligned with the legal assessment. During that same period he guided legal persons working on the file, so that what was being written and what the technical papers actually showed remained the same thing.

I supervised him through 11 September 2026. He treated client material as confidential. He delivered work when it was asked for. I recommend him for data-protection work, legal assessment support, technical documentation, technical audit, forensic assistance, and work alongside legal teams. Confirmation of this letter may be sent to info@sirilawllp.com, citing SIRI/HR/LOR/2025-26/001.

Yours faithfully,
